

Quantum Timber Finishes

Disclaimer

Timber finishes require a maintenance schedule.

If coatings appear dry or thirsty, a wash down and a recoat before the timber is exposed is the most effective method.

Often timber finishes are used in unsuitable areas where extreme exposure will affect the lifespan. These areas can be west facing walls with no protection from overhanging eaves or vegetation.

Decking that has constant sun exposure for most of the day will need recoating more often than a deck with a pergola or cover for protection.

Where coatings appear to have failed through no fault of the substrate, lack of preparation to Quantum specifications or unrealistic weather exposure, Quantum Timber Finishes will replace the product used free of charge.
